The weather has certainly played a part in February's schedule, starting with the Polar Vortex and our Blood Drive January 29. Multiple donors were here to donate but the Red Cross, because of safety concerns, had to cut in half the number of hours they could work. Thus, only 33 units were collected, and there were many disappointed individuals! And the storms have continued with snow falling today (the 20th). Our friends Wayne, Esther and Jim are "stranded" in warmer climates and missing all the excitement! We are thinking of you.
